

Dr. Janet Huxley

(DNP, APRN, FNP-C) MSN

Program Director- FNP and Accelerated tracks,
St. Thomas University

Dr. Janet Huxley is the Family Nurse Practitioner Program Director at St. Thomas University, where she leads with a strong commitment to academic excellence, clinical integrity, and student-centered mentorship. With a passion for preparing the next generation of advanced practice nurses, she focuses on cultivating compassionate, competent, and ethical healthcare leaders. She is a two-time DAISY Award for Extraordinary Nursing Faculty recipient, recognized for her outstanding dedication to nursing education and her positive impact on students while teaching undergraduate pre-licensure students during the first five years of her teaching career. Her approachable teaching style and emphasis on mentorship have made her a valued leader within the St. Thomas College of Nursing.

As a first-generation college graduate, her own academic journey reflects the love and dedication of many educators in the South Florida community having earned her ASN from Broward College, a BSN from Barry University, an MSN from Nova Southeastern University, and a DNP from St. Thomas University. Dr. Huxley carries each of these educators in her heart as she continues their legacy by inspiring both her students and colleagues through her leadership, compassion, and dedication to advancing nursing practice.

She has over a decade of hands-on clinical experience in Labor and Delivery and Women's Health, having served patients at both Memorial Healthcare System and Jackson North Medical center. Her efforts in the clinical setting did not go unrecognized, as she was awarded several awards for Service and Safety. These and other clinical experiences continue to inform her teaching and commitment to excellence in patient care.

In her volunteer role as a Faith Community Nurse and member of the Health Ministries Association, she is passionate about utilizing nursing skills and her faith to create a bridge to reach underserved populations and caring for those in need in the community through health fairs and education sessions. Before entering the Nursing profession, she earned a Minister of Religion degree which has influenced her lifelong dedication to serving humanity and recognizing the Imago Dei in each person that she encounters. She is also an active volunteer with LEAP an organization committed to helping women who were previously incarcerated.
